This information was obtained by the United Press today from sources close to Edmund von Thermann, new German ambassador to London.

It would carry with it German authority, undoubtedly for satisfactory guarantees against the German aggression, which Briand says France fears.

The commission would be equipped to consider the questions Briand raised.

More important, however, to the German mind, would be a discussion of the reparation question. The Wirth government contends Germany cannot meet its reparation payments after next spring under the present system.

Japanese Papers Open Attack on Naval Proposal

Hughes Accused of Consulting British Delegates Before Nipponese Envoys.

By DUKE N. PARRY, International News Service Staff Correspondent.

TOKYO, Nov. 26.—First out and out attacks on the actions of the conference on limitation of armament in Washington appeared in the Tokyo press today with the Nichi Nichi and the Osaka Asahi Shimbun as the leaders.

The Nichi Nichi asks why Secretary Hughes consulted Great Britain's delegates—Balfour and Beatty—regarding naval reduction prior to taking up the matter with the Japanese delegates.

"We question the appropriateness of the heads of the British and American delegations conferring on vital questions privately," said the Nichi Nichi.

"Japan is unwilling to go to super lengths in reducing armament, but wants to help attainment of this end. It is possible Secretary Hughes hopes to use Great Britain to urge upon Japan compliance with the American wishes."

"American-British relations are more amiable than we think. The compromising attitude of Great Britain is responsible for British recognition of the claims of Ireland for dominion rule."

Cosmetics Ruin of Pearls, Jeweler Says

LONDON, Nov. 26.—"The woman who uses cosmetics and wears pearls is knowingly ruining her pearls to do a lingering death. The better the pearl the more easily cosmetics kill it."

In these words a well-known London jeweler complained of the two women who are continually bringing pearls to be repaired, stating that the color and mellow tints are fading.

We cannot exactly tell these women that if they cease to smear their faces with tinted grease and paste their pearls will retain their color, and even improve with time," he said. "Pearl shines only when worn near the actual skin. It deteriorates so badly when worn over a painted neck that after half a dozen seasons it loses a considerable part of its value."

PLEBISCITE IS PROPOSED ON IRISH DISPUTE

London Papers Enter Strong
Protest Against Renewal of Warfare.

By ED. L. KEENE.
United Press Staff Correspondent.

LONDON, Nov. 26.—The fate of Ireland today was being determined at conferences between Sir James Craig and Ulster leaders in Belfast and at a meeting of the Dail cabinet in Dublin.

The two were considering, it is understood, the proposals of Premier Lloyd George, which constitute a basis for further conferences.

They embody, it was believed, a plan to establish a South Irish parliament and provide for a plebiscite to determine Ulster's future boundaries. An alternative suggestion is believed to be contained in the proposals, allowing for acceptance of the all-Irish partition plan, if it is agreeable to both sides.

The general opinion here, however, was that neither Sinn Fein nor Ulster will look with favor on either plan.

LONDON, Nov. 26.—(By the Associated Press.)—A chorus of vigorous protests against renewal of warfare in Ireland in the event the present peace negotiations collapse, is raised by the morning newspapers, after the meeting yesterday of Premier Lloyd George and Sir James Craig, Ulster premier. In this conference, the British cabinet chief informed Sir James that Sinn Fein Ireland had refused to swear allegiance to the crown in return for an Ulster agreement to enter an all-Ireland parliament.

LONDON, Nov. 26.—Following the arrival at Belfast of Sir James Craig, Ulster premier, an apparently inspired despatch was received here from that city today forecasting that Craig would make public on Tuesday Ulster's refusal to join South Ireland until Sinn Fein had acknowledged allegiance in writing to the British crown.

TUNBRIDGE WELLS, England, Nov. 26.—(By The Associated Press.)—Lord Chancellor Birkenhead, speaking at a mass meeting here today, said he could not confidently predict that the Irish question would be satisfactorily solved. He said what the British government had offered Sinn Fein was that, with no reservations, Ireland should be placed in exactly the same position as Canada.

Divorce Costs
20,000 Rubles
Under Soviet

MOSCOW, Nov. 26.—The Moscow city soviet (city council) has decided that the city must be self-supporting and has published a schedule of new taxes for revenue purposes. Among them are:

For marriage applications, 15,000 rubles; divorce applications, 20,000 rubles; change of name, 100,000 rubles; application for Russian citizenship, 10,000 rubles; application for foreign citizenship, 100,000 rubles; permission to change residence, 1000 rubles; tax on concerts and lectures maintaining buffet, 50,000 rubles; tax on rubber stamps used by business firms, 100,000 rubles.

As the official exchange rate, on the day these taxes were decreed, was 100,000 rubles to the dollar, an American in Moscow, armed with a $5 bill, could get married, be divorced, change his name, change his residence a few times, lecture on his honeymoon experiences, change his citizenship and own at least one rubber stamp without breaking another bank note.

The Russian central executive committee has ordered the commissariat of finance to arrange, within a fortnight, a budget showing the revenue obtained from taxation throughout Russia, together with a statement of the loss incurred from printing paper money.

KOVNO, Lithuania, Nov. 26.—(By the Associated Press.)—Minister of Finance Galvanavskas was seriously wounded yesterday by the explosion of a bomb which was thrown through a window of his residence.

The explosion occurred at 2 o'clock and the minister's house and other buildings adjoining it were seriously damaged. The concussion shook the American consulate.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—There is no probability of the postmaster general withdrawing marines from guard duty on mail trains, it was stated officially at the postoffice department today.

The protest of Governor Blaine of Wisconsin against the use of marines was received by Postmaster General Hays last night before his departure for New York and he ordered postal inspectors in Wisconsin to make an investigation of the shooting of Otto Lambrecht by a marine when he attempted to steal a ride on a train in Wisconsin.

The postoffice department announced that careful consideration had been given to the order placing marines on mail trains before it was issued, and that there is no disposition to withdraw them. The department holds that a mail car is government property and the government may use drastic measures to protect it.

In the absence of Secretary Denby, officials of the Navy Department said they could not predict whether the secretary would comply with the request of Governor Blaine to deliver in court the marine who shot Lambrecht, or if he would order that marines were under orders to "shoot to kill" and that if Lambrecht attempted to board a mail car and the marine on guard had not shot to kill that he would have been liable to court-martial.

Civic Stadium, to Seat 10,000, San Jose Plan

SAN JOSE, Nov. 26.—San Jose's boom of prosperity talk has led to another hope during the past twenty-four hours. Certain elements of the city are starting agitation for the raising of a fund for the construction of a civic stadium to seat not less than 10,000 people, and in which all manners of events could be staged.

Younger San Jose is particularly responsible for the new project and indications are that the first steps in a campaign to secure such a stadium will be taken by an athletic association of the San Jose high school, to be formed soon. Leaders in the movement declared today that the first work of the new association, which would consist of being one of the strongest of such bodies in the West, will be to stimulate interest in the erection of an athletic stadium that could also be used for the holding of civic pageants and other exhibitions.

Salvation Army Prepares Shelter for Unemployed Men

STOCKTON, Nov. 26.—This city will operate a woodyard all winter for the benefit of the unemployed, announced Rev. Harry S. Gill, pastor of the Salvation Army, which will also operate the woodyard in cooperation with a committee to be appointed by Mayor D. P. Eicke. The plan is to provide a place for the homeless to sleep, and the woodyard will be open to all who need it.

Every effort will be made to obtain jobs for the jobless and no man will be permitted about the place who shows a disposition to avoid labor. At least two meals a day will be provided, a good "mulligan" with bread and butter, and a hot drink. There will be no fancy foodstuffs. Tin plates and cups will be used and the unemployed will be asked to do most of the work. Refusal means instant dismissal.

SAFE ROBBERS WHO GOT $12,000 STILL UNTRACED

Police Fail to Find Clues to Gang That Raided Department Store.

Despite more than forty hours' endeavor the police today still were without clues tending definitely to establish the identity of five men and a woman who blew open and robbed three safes approximately $12,000 in Whitehorse & Swan's department store, 1015 Washington street, early Thursday night.

It has been agreed by detectives in charge of the investigation that the robbery was committed by men thoroughly experienced in the handling of explosives and the mechanical construction of safes. It was pointed out today that sufficient explosive, and no more was used to blow off the safe doors and knobs so cleanly that it looked as though they had been removed with a gas torch or a similar contrivance.

LEAVE NO FINGER PRINTS.
The belief was expressed that the men wore gloves while going about their operations as the police so far have been unable to obtain any finger print impressions.

Both Rocco Antonelli and Newton Dupuy, the watchmen who were overpowered, gagged, bound and left lying in the elevator at the third floor of the store, today reiterated their statements that the cracksmen had been accompanied and directed by a woman. They said they could distinguish her voice plainly.

MAY BE FROM EAST.
The theory was advanced today that the men may be a gang of experienced safecrackers who have come out from the east for the winter, and that they may be a long distance from Oakland.

Several phases of the crime still are of uncertain status, and the police were endeavoring today to clear up these points satisfactorily.

Daily ALMANAC

by A. J. Schuster

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 26.

The Christmas shopping lists are being made out, with here and there a rare spirit who has made all of her purchases. Prince William, son of Henry I of England, was drowned in the White ship in 1120. Philippe Quinault died in 1688. Peter Force, not the manufacturer of breakfast food, but a historian, was born in 1790. In 1832 the first electric railway was exhibited and operated. It had carpets on the floor, a coal stove amidships, and smelled nice and varnished. The Grass Fight, Texas Revolution, was fought in 1835.

SONNETS OF THE TOWN.

THE PATROLMAN.

The patrolman swings his stick upon the street
And with his eye fall on the moving throng,
Appraising, idly, righteously men and women
With careless air, indifference complete:
A half-bored watchman measuring his beat.
The uniform may segregate a class;
One gives the stain of arrogance to brass;
Tradition gives him brusqueness and conceit,
And yet the cops I know have kids at play,
And wives who glow with pride, and know the fear
Of calls of test and risk that he must bear.
The scandals and the rumors that we hear
He hears unjustly; I am heir to say
He hears unjustly; I am heir to say
He hears unjustly; I am heir to say ing our habitat was a thing we loved to do, but in those days our lures et penates hardly filled a single trunk. Our household dieties have increased. We've acquired an husband—nice but temperamental in spots—a baby (with the same general characteristics as his paternal ancestor), some goldfish and a canary bird. Transferring this managerial intact from one domicile to another is anything but a joke and we are not feeling especially funny. Chaotically yours—Corisande.

THIS WAS ALWAYS GOOD.

Dear Shoos: Saw the following on a bulletin board at U. C. the other day: "If the person who took the coat and trousers out of locker 1437 will call there again he can have the vest." How's that for an example of the honor spirit?—S. A. M.

Odd Bits of Humor

PROBLY. RESULT OF DROUTH.

"We often read of extinct animals, but there is a well-known flower that is almost certain to pass."

"Which can it be?"

"The rum-blossom, of course."

HAD A GOOD WALK.

"Has your girl a good carriage, Bill?"

"Gwan, she ain't got no carriage."

"Oh, I mean has she a good walk?"

"I'll say so—about two miles from the factory to her house—twice a day!"

CONSIDERABLY JARRED.

"When you collided with your wife on the street while looking back at that girl, were you much shaken up?"

"Considerably jarred."

1898 VETERANS AT CONVENTION TO VIEW PARKS

Right Will Be Made for a Bill
Providing Pension for the Widows, Orphans.

CHICAGO, Nov. 25.—Delegates to the 1922 national convention of the United Spanish War Veterans at Los Angeles will be given an opportunity to visit the state and national parks of the west, according to an announcement by Oscar E. Carlstrom, commander-in-chief, who said he plans to fix the convention dates during the last ten days of August. The dates were advanced because most of the parks of the West close in September, Commander Carlstrom said, in making the announcement.

In a general order issued from national headquarters here the new commander abolished the Washington office of the national committee on legislation. All Spanish war veterans were asked in the order to write to their senators and congressmen urging immediate passage of the Spanish war veterans' widows and orphans' pension bill.

The following new appointments have been made by the national commander:

Inspector General, William Basely, Connecticut.

Judge Advocate General, Thomas J. L. Kennedy, Washington.

National Patriotic Instructor, Roy V. Hoffman, Oklahoma.

Provost Marshal, W. W. Parker, Virginia.

Assistant Adjutant General, John W. McDonnell, Illinois.

Assistant Quartermaster General, Fred E. Brown, Illinois.

Two new camps of the United Spanish War Veterans have been instituted since Carlstrom became national commander. They are located at Ellzabethtown, Ill., and Johnson City, N.Y.

FOUR DOCTORS GAVE HER UP

Through a Neighbor's Advice This Woman Was Restored to Health
by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Kenosha, Wis.—"I suffered with a female trouble and at last was in bed for six weeks with what the doctors called inflammation of the bowels. Four of them said I could not live. A neighbor told me to use Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it helped me from the start. When the doctor came I told him what I had taken and he said 'Throw my medicine away and keep on with the Pinkham medicine.' I did and it cured me. If more women would take your medicine they would not suffer so. I have recommended the Vegetable Compound to lots of people and they have been satisfied."—Mrs. MARY RHAPSTOCK, 2704 Wisconsin St., Kenosha, Wisconsin.

When a woman is beset with such symptoms as irregularities, inflammation, ulceration, a displacement, backache, headaches, bearing-down pains, nervousness, etc., she should at once treat the cause of such troubles by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Fancy work booths, mysteries and other novelties will be there, and in the evening there will be a splendid program and dance. Details of the bazaar will be announced later. A special luncheon will be served from 12 to 2 o'clock.

Alumnae of the Gamma Phi Beta sorority will be guests of Miss Mabel Williams at tea this afternoon at her residence on Arch street, Berkeley, and a large number of the active members will be the guests as well.

WEDDING TAKES PLACE AT HOME

At a pretty wedding in the home of her parents, Miss Edith Stromberg became the bride of Bayard S. Parker Thursday evening, November 17, at 8:30 o'clock. Rev. C. Arthur Johnson officiated in the presence of both friends and relatives.

Miss Stromberg was given in marriage by her father, C. A. Stromberg, and was attended by Miss E. E. Thuren. Elven Isakson was best man for Parker. The bride wore a gown of white satin and veil held in place with a coronet of orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley. Miss Thuren wore a pale blue tulle, and carried pink roses.

After the ceremony an elaborate supper was served to half a hundred guests. The home was beautifully decorated with ferns and chrysanthemums. The newly-married couple left on a short honeymoon, and when they return will reside at the Lakeshore apartments.

Miss Elizabeth Doak is visiting in San Francisco from her home near Napa, the Doak estate being one of the largest in that section. Miss Doak is registered at the Woman's Athletic club in San Francisco.

The date for the wedding of Miss Eleanor French and Alfred R. Whitman is set for December 29 at All Souls' chapel. A reception will be held at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. Mortimer French on Sumner street, later. Miss French is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Whitman, who will be attended by a number of her sorority sisters. Whitman is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Whitman.

The betrothal of Miss Bertha Thieme and James Hoyt Vernop was announced this week at a party given by the bride-elect at her home in the college city. Only intimate friends were assembled about the tea table.

DANCES ON THIS EVENING.

Two large dances are on the calendar for this evening, one at the Clarendon club, where several hundred members and guests will be present. Many no-host parties have been made up for tonight. At the Home Club, in Fourth Avenue Heights, the Guentican Assembly will hold a dance, a congenial group of friends who were former members of the Oakland and Berkeley chapters of the club, comprising the personnel of the club. This is the second dance of the winter. On the reception committee will be Miss Helen Church and Leroy Hahn, who are superintending the decorations, J. Ivah Murphy, Clifford Y. Fraser and Walton Larue.

Mrs. J. J. Mitchell of Piedmont was hostess of a large Thanksgiving party at her home in Arimo avenue, places being set for a score of the members of the family and immediate friends.

Women's Clubs' Head Renamed For Office

By EDNA B. KINARD.

Mrs. Thomas G. Winter, president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, has been nominated to succeed herself in that important office, which gives leadership to some 2,000,000 feminists of the country. Mrs. Winter, who came into the executive office in the wake of Mrs. Jessie Evans Cowles of California after a four years' incumbency, has achieved many notable tasks and been hailed for her mental qualities as well as executive ability and natural gifts of leadership. Clubwomen throughout the nation, expressing full confidence in the general federation president, sent hundreds of petitions to President Harding requesting that she be named to the Disarmament Conference as the representative of the womanhood of America. She was one of the four women named to the President's advisory council.

Women of the Minnesota State Federation of Women's Clubs, of which Mrs. Winter has long been prominent, at the recent convention unanimously endorsed their associate for re-election. Under the by-laws of the General Federation such endorsement is necessary on the part of a state before a candidate can be placed on the regular ticket. The biennial convention will take place in June.

The newest group to affiliate with the General Federation is that of "State Presidents of 1920," who have organized under the leadership of Mrs. Aaron Schloss of Berkeley. All the women who presided over the state federations in 1920 will make up the personnel of the nation-wide group who are intent on preserving their identity as a unit.

State presidents of 1912 affiliated with the General Federation during the past summer.

Some of the secrets of the membership drive in Oakland Technical High School Parent-Teacher Association will be revealed on Monday, December 5, when the club, which has a dinner from each other in token of success will present reports. Mrs. S. F. Emery, chairman of the Home Department of Oakland Federation of Mothers' Clubs, will be the speaker of the afternoon. An informal tea, the last of the season, will bring the hour to a close.

Scholarship and philanthropy departments will benefit from the Tech. association's participation in the two-day "Country Fair" of Oakland Federation in the Municipal Auditorium December 12 and 13. Besides extending to a brilliant young student the financial assistance which will enable him to complete his subjects, the mothers are now

GRAYS WILL HOLD BIG AERO CIRCUS

Thrilling "stunts," upside-down flying and aerial polo will feature a program of spectacular air demonstrations at Durant field, Sunday, December 4. Four well known aviators will put on an aviation meet for the benefit of the California Grays, the young men's military organization of Oakland.

For the first time, Chester Clarke, former army flyer, will go through a series of "stunts" in a new 137 H. P. Sopwith Camel speed scout. The plane has just arrived at the field and will be given its first try-out this week. Cloyd Clevenger, former army aviator; Franklin Rose, well known aviator of San Jose; and Richard Doane, formerly of the Royal Flying Corps, are the other three flyers to participate in the meet.

The California Grays were organized in Oakland a short time ago. Funds are needed to secure equipment and uniforms, so the Oakland company enlisted the aid of the flyers.

The program will start promptly at 1:30 o'clock and will conclude at 5. An admission fee of 25 cents will be charged.

COURT VERDICT IS ACCEPTED BY SCIENCE BOARD

Trustees Will Help Directors to Fill the Vacant Places.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.

BOSTON, Nov. 25.—The board of trustees of the Publishing Society today notified the board of directors of the First Church of Christ Science—the mother church—that they would accept as final the Massachusetts supreme court ruling that the directors have power over the trustees. They announced that they would co-operate with the directors in the appointment of their successors.

The statement was signed by Herbert W. B. Eustace, Lamont Rowland and Paul Harvey.

The directors were informed in a separate letter that the trustees had received the resignation of Frederick Dixon, as editor, and John R. Watts, as business manager, of the Christian Science Monitor. The statement follows:

"From the beginning we have sought to conform to Mrs. Eddy's wish, faithfully to carry out the high purpose of her trust and to obey the law of the land.

"We differed from the directors in our interpretation of what our leader's wish and purpose were, and she could not speak to us in person.

"We, therefore, sought legal interpretation of her legal instrument, which declares our duty, and to that we were willing to subordinate our cherished beliefs. That interpretation has now been given. It is authoritative and, as to us, final.

"We shall co-operate with the directors, who, as the law has been declared, are entitled to dominate the trust, in the appointment of our successors."

Sea Scouts to Hear Talks by Experts

A novel exposition of the Sea Scout program will be given Monday night at Moose hall, where the third of the series of Boy Scout Institute meetings will be held. Edward Albert, Scout executive of the Alameda council, will be in charge of the demonstration, aided by boys from the Encinal City. Albert, known as the Portmaster of the Sea Scout program, will speak.

The meeting will be attended by the men who have been attending the institute sessions with a view to mastering Boy Scout work and preparing themselves to become Scoutmasters. Scout Executive Homer J. Bemiss has made it clear that attendances at the lectures entails no obligation to take up Scout leadership, but many of those who have heard the lectures have already signed as Scoutmasters. The idea of the institute meetings is to develop Scout leaders in order that the movement may expand properly under adult direction.

Northwest Coast Warned of Storms

Clouds and fog, with unsettled rainy weather make up the forecast for the Pacific seaboard region tonight and Sunday with the exception of Southern California, where it will be fair.

NURSE IS NOW ENDORSSING IT

The fact that so many trained nurses endorse Tanlac is conclusive proof that the wonderful reputation this medicine enjoys is won by results and not by claims. Miss Hazel M. Burleigh, 990 Francisco street, Los Angeles, Cal., trained nurse, makes a characteristic statement. She says:

"I believe in Tanlac because I put it to the test, and from personal experience I know what it will do. Last spring when I was all run down as a result of long, hard service, I needed something to build me up. I tried Tanlac.

"By the time I had taken three bottles I was feeling as fine and strong as ever in my life. I have been in the best of health ever since, and should the same conditions arise again I don't hesitate to say I would again get Tanlac. In cases of stomach trouble and debilitated condition I don't think it has an equal."

Tanlac is sold in Oakland by the Owl Drug Company and leading druggists everywhere.—Advertisement.

Home-made, but Has No Equal for Coughs

Makes a family supply of really beneficial medicine. Economically prepared, and saves about $1.

If you have a severe cough or chest cold accompanied with soreness, throat tickle, hoarseness, or difficult breathing, or if your child wakes up during the night with a cough and you want quick help, try this reliable old home-made cough remedy. Any druggist can supply you with 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle and fill it to the top with granulated sugar syrup. Or you can use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. If desired, this recipe makes a pint of really remarkable cough remedy. It tastes good, and in spite of its low cost, it can be depended upon to give quick and lasting relief.

You can find this takes hold of a cough in a way that means business. It loosens and raises the phlegm, stops throat tickle and soothes you, and it has a specific and powerful effect on the inflamed membranes that line the throat and bronchial tubes with such promptness, ease and certainty that it is really astonishing.

Pinex is a specific and powerful concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and is probably the best known means of overcoming severe coughs, throat and chest colds. There are many worthless imitations of this mixture. To avoid disappointment, ask for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The PINEX CO., Wayne, Ind.

Free Orpheum Seats Selected Haphazard

Some lucky motorist has two free seats at the Oakland Orpheum waiting for him at the office of The OAKLAND TRIBUNE.

His automobile license number appears in the Orpheum ad in The TRIBUNE exclusively, which means two free seats.

Look at the Orpheum ad in this paper right now—it may be YOUR number.

One automobile license number is selected daily. It is picked up at random either on the street, in a garage, or possibly in a service station of Oakland, Alameda and Berkeley. The following day the number appears at the top of the Oakland Orpheum advertisement in The OAKLAND TRIBUNE exclusively.

The owner of the number, by calling on the Circulation Department of The OAKLAND TRIBUNE, will be given an order for two free seats at the Oakland Orpheum—the best in the house. The order is good for any performance except Saturdays, Sundays and holidays.

Watch the Orpheum ads in The TRIBUNE every day.

Your number may be the next one to appear, in which case the free seats are yours.

Ground CHOCOLATE

Are you a good cook?

Do you want to make some extra money?

Christmas is one of the big feast days of the year, a day when home-cooked food, especially, is in order, for Christmas is the period of family reunions when folks are thinking of home and home-made things.

Perhaps you have thought about making fruit cakes, mince meat, etc., for the Christmas trade, because you know what a demand there is for them, but have been unable to figure how to sell direct to the consumers and so realize the largest possible profit.

One of the cheapest and most effective ways of reaching the consumers of Christmas articles of all kinds is to insert a Want Ad under Christmas Suggestions, a heading which runs in the Classified Columns during the holiday season.

N. B.—Begin your preparations for the Christmas trade NOW.

Six Baptists Organized, Built First Oakland Church in 1854

By REV. E. R. DILLIE
(This is the fourth of a series of articles on the early history of the churches of Oakland.)

In this series of sketches we are dealing with the heroic age of the church in California. It was indeed a winnowed seed with which God sowed the Golden West, a seed sown through the steady perseverance of the desert, the stormy seas round California, and the fever swamps of the isthmus. By the slow and arduous of the fittest, those reached here who had brain and brawn and stamina—of fathers and mothers of the pioneering race of men. They came not to exploit, but to evangelize, these Christians, not to dig but to build, not to take away material values but to bring and leave spiritual values.

CHURCH ORGANIZED.
Another of the pioneer churches of the Eastbay was the First Baptist Church of Oakland, which was organized December 7, 1854, with members: Rev. J. D. Willis, pastor; J. Thompson, deacon, and J. V. Taylor, clerk. Mrs. A. A. Willis, Mrs. L. W. Taylor and Mrs. Mary Porter.

The first service here in 1854, when the whole community united in celebrating the completion of Dr. Gray's fifty years in the ministry.

In 1858 he retired at 57 years of age, and Rev. C. S. Hobart, who had been associated with him as assistant pastor, succeeded him. After a long and successful ministry in Oakland during which the church was highly prosperous, Dr. Hobart resigned. He is now retired and is living in Sacramento.

RATE REDUCTION PROMISED.

News from Washington to the effect that the Interstate Commerce Commission will pursue investigation of its own as to the reasonable rates of the present level of transportation rates is a salutary indication that the commission is satisfied with the progress of the negotiations between the government rate fixing body and the railroad operators, and that it will, if necessary, take definite action to bring about reduction of rates. The railroads and the Interstate Commerce Commission are considerable stance apart on what constitutes a reasonable reduction. The action of the commission justifies the assumption that the roads are showing too much tenacity in sticking to their own viewpoint. By ordering a flat cut of approximately 16 1/2 per cent rates on Western hay and grain the commission has indicated its own judgment regarding reduction. The railroad executives have announced their decision to make a 10 per cent reduction on all agricultural products, the cut to be maintained for six months, when the operators expect wage readjustments to permit further reductions. This offer the railroads have made would constitute an acceptable compromise with the commission's demand for a 16 1/2 per cent reduction. But the action of the commission ordering an independent investigation does not seem to confirm the hope of the railroads.

There is another point of difference between the commission and the railroads—whether rate reductions should precede or follow wage reductions. The railroads are insisting upon wages coming down before traffic rates, while the commission takes the view that it is responsible under the law for decreeing just and reasonable schedules, and that while the wage factor in operating costs should be taken into consideration, the roads for the present must look to other agencies and processes for effecting reduction in rates.

This stand of the commission has been dictated by the fact that the economic relief which the reductions will offer is sorely needed at the moment. The agriculturalist has been in distress for many months, with prices for his products continuing to fall while the extortionate rates demanded in time of war were being maintained. This is caused a dwindling of the farmer's income. As a result relief has been sought in other quarters than those where it should have been forthcoming directly and at once. The federal government adopted a scheme of financing the farmer to hold his products from the market in the hope of a rise in prices, a left-handed effort to maintain and restore high prices, while with the right hand the government pretended to be willing to effect reduction in commodity prices.

The hoarding of foodstuffs is a questionable procedure. Unless production is curtailed, the surplus will be increased by hoarding. At the same time financial aid is being extended by the government to enable American producers of businesses to sell their commodities abroad. The farmer is not the only one affected by high transportation rates. The consumer finds the present prices so slow as to try his patience and has voiced a demand to stop the indirect, heavy, tax levied upon him by the railroads. Finally, it would appear, the Interstate Commerce Commission has come to recognize the fact that the natural and direct way is to cut traffic rates and permit the sale of agricultural products at a lower price. This will enable the farmer to produce at some profit, certainly not as large as he became accustomed to in 1917 and 1918, but reasonable, instead of borrowing money and hoarding his products. It will also permit further reduction in prices of all commodities the consumer.

The railroads are wholly mindful of the restrictive effect of high rates upon business and industry. But they want to reduce wages before they reduce rates. Already they are deriving the benefit of one wage reduction for operative employees and a general reduction in all the shops and repair firms. Replacement and repair of rolling stock is now possible at a much lower cost than one year ago. But the roads are unwilling to give the public the benefit of lower operating and maintenance costs.

It is altogether proper that the Interstate Commerce Commission should take the matter of rate reductions courageously into its own hands and see to it that the public is dealt with fairly.

BRIAND WAS SUCCESSFUL.

Premier Briand of France is returning home from his visit to the United States with the consciousness that he has achieved in a large way for his country. Whatever may be the fortunes of other delegates to the disarmament conference, Mr. Briand was successful in accomplishing the main purpose of his visit.

He made the position of France with reference to land armies perfectly clear, with a logic, an earnestness and an eloquence that won attention as well as admiration. And then he won the adherence of the United States and the other nations represented to his viewpoint that the military problem of France was peculiarly a French problem and one which must be determined by conditions at the land frontiers of France.

Stated another way, Mr. Briand gave pledges of France's sincere desire for peace and won approval of his policy to keep France prepared against assault from the outside as long as France conceived the danger of assault to exist.

With naval armaments France is not greatly interested, except from the viewpoint of the requirements of defense exclusively. France is not competing with naval powers. She does not pretend that a great navy is necessary for the conduct of her maritime commerce. She insists only upon the privilege to keep her home frontiers safe from invasion. Mr. Briand compelled the other statesmen at Washington to take the French view, and moreover to admire and express sympathy with it.

Mr. Briand came to America to represent his own country at an international conference. It is not reasonable to expect any other delegate to the conference to do as well for his country as Mr. Briand has served France.

WHAT REALLY MATTERS.

Renunciation of extraterritorial rights in China by foreign nations has been agreed to "in principle" by the delegates to the disarmament conference. This sounds well. It is meant well if it indicates a readiness to surrender the right of foreign governments to exercise judicial control over their nationals in China at an early date.

But, after all, the right of extraterritoriality never interfered with the progress of the Chinese nation. It has not injured China in any way except to offend her pride and to indicate her as possessing a judicial system which foreigners refused to trust and submit to. On the contrary it has been helpful in a way, for it has continually reminded the Chinese government and people of the desirability of improving their judiciary until it coincided fairly with Western ideals.

There is another matter of vastly more importance. It is the demand of the Chinese delegates for abrogation of that portion of the Boxer Indemnity agreement of 1901 which permits the foreign powers to decree a maximum tariff duty on imports and exports which China may levy. This exercise of administrative control by foreign governments has an important bearing on Chinese finances. It has compelled China to borrow continually, to remain heavily in debt to foreign financial interests and governments, and to delay indefinitely many public improvements that might otherwise have been carried out.

The disarmament conference has adopted a resolution endorsing the "principle" of administrative integrity for China. The Chinese delegation has demanded freedom from foreign control of the power to levy and collect customs duties. If the foreign powers fail to interpret their "principles" into a surrender of this control over the tariff held by virtue of the Peking Protocol of 1901, their sincerity in all other respects must be under suspicion.

To paraphrase the immortal Lincoln, prohibition can't endure half knave and half squire.

"FAVORABLE" TRADE BALANCE

When a nation sells more than it buys, when its exports are greater than its imports, it is commonly said to have a favorable trade balance. That is, the goods produced on its farms and in its factories offer more successful competition in the world's markets than the goods of other nations offer in its domestic market. The country with a favorable balance experiences no great setback to its own industries through imports, while it feels a stimulus to production through export sales. In addition, since the incoming goods are not valuable enough to pay for the goods it ships out, gold comes its way. This, ordinarily, is considered a rather good thing.

The Department of Commerce's forecast of a favorable American trade balance of $2,000,000,000 for the present year is therefore greeted as good news. Let us have a greater export trade, for the world needs our goods. But let the balance where possible take other forms than gold payments.—New York Sun

NOTES and COMMENT

The practice of furnishing inmates of jails turkey dinners on Thanksgiving Day may exemplify a national proverb and overlooking disposition, but it also is a criticism on the part of hoboes and wasters of letting themselves arrested the day before that they may profit by the largess. Such cunning could be circumvented by stipulating that participants in such turkeyfeasts must show credentials of considerable worth in jail, which would rule out amateurs.

The San Francisco police have declared that long hostilities must cease in that city. They have been saying that ever since town started, now some seventy-five years, and long warriors are still doing business in the old way. Still, it would seem to be possible to stop it. It every time there is a long war every Chinaman holds a hand in it, or belongs to a long concerned in it, should be ruthlessly deported, without interference by pin-sucking attorneys these ruckies would soon become unpopular with those who indulge in them.

There was undoubtedly wonder when a ship came in and it was found that its strong box had been looted on route, though it gently guarded and its locks tested every day; but there must be some reason that a robbery of this class magnitude should be pulled off in the heart of the business district of this city, and within a stone's throw of police headquarters. These occurrences surely furnish food for thought.

Admiral Beatty explains a mystery. All who have met him or seen his pictures must have noticed that he wears his cap cocked to one side in a rakish manner. It was supposed to be "swank," but he now explains that it is due to a "bump," which makes it impossible to wear the stiff naval headpiece on an even keel. It would seem that the Admiral's explanation ought to end the curiosity.

The arrest of a distributor of I. W. W. literature indicates that while these iconoclasts may be mitigated, they are still in evidence. The war and its political greatly interfered with their activities, which had become in some sections quite menacing; but there seems to be vitality in the organization worthy a better cause. The public mind is not as susceptible, however, to the devious argument and propaganda as it was before the awakening.

There have been many inquiries and much discussion as to why voting machines are not used in recording the will of the electorate. They were introduced in this State, but were discarded and a return made to the primitive method of each elector depositing his ballot in the box. Probably the old voting habit is one reason why voting machines are unpopular. The voter likes to see his ballot go in. He isn't impressed with the sense of having voted by pushing buttons.

Nothing happened at the grounds on the occasion of the great football game last Saturday, but sad results are reported from Quincy. Two teachers in the Plumas county high school, having been refused permission to call in holiday and attend the game, went anyhow. Upon their return their positions were declared vacant. This may figure in with other great obstacles that are interposed in the way of educative processes.

The San Francisco police are going out after bandits in armored cars. Undoubtedly there are some who are in the open and ready to be run down that way, but some recent big achievements in the bandit class suggest that methods more subtle than those possible with armored cars are necessary to cope with the crime wave.

When we remember the considerable automobile accidents that happen from apparently inconsiderable causes we may find white to the account of San Rafael in stance which was the other way around. An auto with two aboard skidded, went over a thirty-foot embankment, alighted on a railway track which was in motion, and the occupants escaped injury.

SPIRIT OF THE STATE PRESS

A camp to accommodate 100 men is being established by the Pacific Gas and Electric Company on McClellan street for their workmen who are engaged in the construction of the power line leading from Pitt river to Vacaville and from the sub-station to the bay cities.—Vacaville Reporter.

In a clipping that appeared in the Proprietor last week, taken from the Record-Courier of San Rafael, Nevada, it was stated that the bronze tablet recently placed by the N. S. G. W. on the monument marking the Kit Carson tree at Kit Carson Pass had been stolen by vandals. It now appears that the tablet was not stolen, but was removed by Grant Merrill of Woodsford, one of the supervisors of Alpine county. Instead of the tablet being missing it was simply an "in" left out of the word "government" by the artist who engraved the tablet. Mr. Merrill removed the tablet to have the error corrected.—Calaveras Prospect.

THE PROBLEM TO SOLVE.

JUST FOLKS: By EDGAR A. GUEST

WOODSHED DAYS

We're done with woodshed days,
It seems,
And yet they linger in my dreams.
Those days of old when it was willed
That I must keep the coal stove filled
And early quit my cosy bed
To clear a path unto the shed.
Then cheeks were red and hunger grew
As drifts of snow I struggled through
And built a bank on either side
To make a pathway two-feet wide.
Two banks, 'twixt which a boy could stand,
A scuttle held in either hand.
At night before I went to bed,
"Get in the coal," my father said,
And through the biting winter air
I'd tread that slippery thoroughfare.
The while he watched beside the door
Until my dangerous trip was o'er.
Despite the ease of modern ways,

THIS IS WHAT BECOMES OF THEM IN SOUTH SEAS

Frederick O'Brien, author of "Mystic Isles of the South Seas" and "White Shadows in the South Seas," has received a letter from his former home in the Marquesas Islands, which will convey a poignant message to those who have loved the characters he portrayed in his first book, "White Shadows in the South Seas." The letter is from Monsieur Le Brunnet, the French trader long resident in the island of Hiva-Oa, who was a friend of O'Brien. It is written from that melancholy valley of Atuona, where Gauguin died, where Stevenson sojourned, and where O'Brien slept in the Golden Bed in the House of the Dead Leper. Written in French, the letter says:

"I have received the copy of 'White Shadows in the South Seas' you sent me, and thank you for it. The book has been read by me to many persons, and all say that the picture you have made of the people here is frank, and the opinion is that your book is in English the worthy successor of the famous 'Marriage of Loti,' which all French people have read. If you came back here to Atuona, you would not recognize your village of Atuona, on account of the many buildings erected since you left. Because of the high price of copra during the war, the Marquesans were running in gold, or more really, in paper money, for four years, and naturally new traders' stores were put up.

"Baufre's shack is replaced by a handsome store, and where Gauguin lived once is the establishment of the Compagnie Navale de l'Océanie, which, the Saint Francis, the ship who departed in. There is a nice house for the Commissaire, the successor of Baufre. A new building has been erected on the grounds where Gauguin's studio was, and goods are being sold where that great man painted his bizarre pictures. There are other government buildings. It is not necessary to explain to you that the French system of colonization is to have more officials, the fewer natives there are to govern. There are now what with the officials and the traders, twenty whites at Atuona. Of course, I detest this assemblage of my race because of their lack of love of nature and of their foolish conventions, for I love best the simplicity of the primitive, and so I have taken refuge at Tahauku, where I am now a long time in the former house of the German trader, Krich.

"Here are some news of your former native friends:
"Apporo, to whom you gave the Golden Bed, has divorced Puhei, without going to law, and Apporo took another husband. All three, Apporo, Puhei and the new husband shared the Golden Bed. But one fine day Puhei went to Tauna and returned with another wife. This created discord: Apporo expelled all of them, and lives now alone with the Golden Bed.
"Pierre Guillette is always the same, drinking hard and very heavy.
"Baufre, the shaggy tailor and trader, has gone to France with his 'bone-white children.'
"Madame Dapp and her husband have left, as also Andre Bauda.
"L'Hermier des Plantes, the governor when you were here, is the French governor of the Congo in Africa.
"Plag, the gendarme, is dead of tuberculosis.
"Koki, former cook for the governor, and prisoner then making copra brandy, lives at Taosa, near Matemoi.
"Mademoiselle N. has gone back to the brush. She has turned Marquesan absolutely and lives by her father's tomb, despite her wealth.
"She has had her fling in Tahiti and is sad.
"Titihiui died of tuberculosis. Her daughter, whose picture you reproduced, is dead of tuberculosis, too. Her other daughter, Kake, is living with Expanding Eggs, your valet, who is now nearly twenty. He took her away from her husband, and took also the baby. Beautiful, is dead of tuberculosis. Of course, you know the baby is named Frederic for you.
"A moving picture yacht, Wisdom II, came here from America and made pictures of all the scenes of your life here. The yacht captain said he was making these pictures for you, but the Americans are such bluffers that I did not know if it were true.
"Malicious Gossip and Timoteo live happily, and because many people have died they are very rich in land.
"Flower is married at last and has two children.
"Le Molne, the painter, who loved Vanquished Often, died a madman.
"Pierre Scallamera is dead and also his wife and daughter.
"Estesia, the Beautiful, is dead of tuberculosis, as also Tepu, the Wild Woman, who tried to carry you off, and also The Daughter of the Pigeon.
"Ben Santos, from whom she got the Singer Sewing machine, survives her.
"Francis Grelet, the Swiss, with whom you lived at Omoa, is dead, as also the Ghost Girl, Velina-hac.
"I am married to Tahapi, and we have named our first child in remembrance of you.
"Such is the news, sad as it is. There are very few of the Marquesans whom you knew still alive. Those love you, yet.
"Why do you not return here and live in comfort and peace? I never

It Must Not Be in Vain

It must not be vain:
Rise, O land of the free;
Too long you have lain
As dead to the call
In a dull lethargy.
Was the wormwood and gall
And the suffering vain?
Did our noble youths fall
Insanely, in quelling a conflict insane?
Must it be but in vain?
It must not be vain,
O America, free;
With strife as the bane
Of the lands shall we call
For a world peace to be,
Or drink of the gall
Of another war reign
Where our nations shall fall?
When we seek, single-hearted, world
peace to attain,
We shall not seek in vain.

"Well," said the clergyman, "I have a pair at home which will just about fit you, and I will have them sent to you."
The trousers were duly sent, and the following three Sundays John was seen at church. Then, after being absent for some time, the clergyman again met him.
"Well, John," he said, "you have no excuse for not coming to church lately."
"Look here, parson," said John. "I come to church three Sundays, an' if you don't think I earned them trousers, just tell me how many more Sundays I shall have to come store they're mine."—Boston Post.

About YOUR HEALTH

Just What the Nature of Contagious Disease Really Is
By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M.D.,
Commissioner of Health,
New York City.

There is a popular idea that this or that disease is transmitted from one person to another. The general conception is that disease is the result of contact, just as you are smeared with paint if you brush against a freshly painted building. According to this theory, you have measles as soon as you associate with a measles patient.

This idea is a long way from the truth. Disease is not like a coat, to be put on by one who happens to pass. Neither is it like a garment which can be stripped off by a skilful physician. The world is filled with visible animal and plant life. Likewise, it teems with invisible animal and plant life. Animals of the same species herd together. Plants of the same type flourish in favorable spots. You don't come into contact with rattlesnakes and poison ivy everywhere you go. Once in a great while a rattlesnake is found in a warm kitchen in the midst of civilization, and I have seen poison ivy on the edge of Niagara Falls, where thousands view it daily. Ordinarily, however, these particular things infest particular localities.

It is like this with the germs of human disease. While they may be met anywhere in the world, while you may pick one up in the most unexpected place, yet it may be said in general that they are found only in the body of some person, where tissues and cells offer a peculiarly attractive soil for their growth. The germs are the agents which invade disease. When taken into the body, if they find there suitable conditions they will take root, grow and multiply. Directly, or from the effect of poison, they develop. The body of the victim is attacked by these visitors who violate all the rules of hospitality.

You will see, then, that disease itself is not transmitted, but the agent capable of producing disease is transmitted from the sick to the well.

It is as if you had gone to a rattlesnake or poison ivy infested region, and had placed yourself where you could receive the agent capable of causing you harm. Whether you are subsequently harmed by the germ in the rattlesnake or by the poison ivy may depend upon your own power of resistance. Your skin may be thick, your tissues firm and resistant, or the cells of your body so constituted that you cannot be affected by any one of these poisonous agents.

Immunity from or protection against disease depends on two things: First, it depends on some mysterious power in the cells of the body.

For instance, diphtheria is a dreadful disease, and causes many, many deaths along very young children. Yet only about 50 per cent of children "take" diphtheria. Many have a natural immunity or protection against it, just as others cannot "catch" scarlet fever or measles. This desirable condition seems to be an inherited gift.

Certain diseases, such as smallpox, diphtheria and typhoid fever may be guarded against by inoculation which develop artificially the immunity some persons inherit. The second thing which influences immunity is the condition of the body. Overwork, worry, intemperance, lack of exercise, lack of sleep, undernourishment, constipation, bad teeth and tonsils—all these lower the resistance and make it easy for the agents of disease to break through your defense and cause you to be more likely to contract disease.

TODAY 20 YEARS AGO

Prof. Richard T. Ely of the University of Wisconsin is scheduled to lecture on Friday evening at Assembly hall on the subject, "Evolution of the Industrial Society."

At a meeting of the city council last night there were present Councilmen Bishop, Bon, Boyer, Courtney, Cuvellier, Dornin, Ruch, Wallace, Wilson and President Schaffer. The members of the First Methodist church, in response to an appeal from the pastor, Rev. E. R. Dille, pledged $5000 toward liquidating the church debt, at the morning service last Sunday.

The pupils of Sacred Heart convent celebrated the Feast of St. Cecilia last Thursday by a program of music and tableaux.

CITIES AND CITY GOVERNMENT.

The stumbling efforts of various municipalities outside New York State to find better methods of city government are always interesting to New Yorkers.

There is Detroit, for example, the fastest growing, and in some respects the most prosperous of American cities at the present time. She holds an election on non-partisan lines and Mayor James Couzens, a very wealthy banker, wins for re-election almost two to one on a municipal ownership platform.

Indianapolis sweeps back into power "Sam Low" Shank, the potato-selling mayor of 1912, who later went into vaudeville, by a majority of about 22,000, which is big for Indianapolis.

Bridgeport turns out a Republican mayor who has served ten terms, on the ground that he has not done enough for the common people. A like condition exists in Waterbury, where the Democrats for the first time in a quarter of a century.

Cleveland defeats the regular Republican candidate for mayor and elects a former chief of police, who was dismissed from office on charges filed by the mayor, Newton D. Baker, in 1918.

Indianapolis watches what other cities are doing, willing to learn the lessons to them. When the time comes, she may do some experimenting herself, but conservatism is the keynote of metropolitan thought and metropolitan conduct.—Brooklyn Eagle.

The funeral of Lewis A. Kent, old-time resident of Alameda and veteran of the civil war, who died at his home, 2245 Central avenue, Thanksgiving day, will be held this afternoon from the chapel of George Murphy, 3512 Central avenue. Kent, up to three years ago, was a customs employee.

Living Conditions of U. of C. Students to Be Investigated

Action Follows Report Made by Board of Alumni Visitors.

BERKELEY, Nov. 26.—Stories that college students have been forced to live in basements and attics under conditions which prove detrimental to their health will be investigated by a special committee of students.

Headed by Charles Binder, a senior student, the committee will make a rigid investigation of living conditions. Action was taken by the students following an investigation made by the recently appointed board of alumni visitors which advocated dormitories as the only solution of the problem.

Living conditions of both men and women students will be probed.

"Dormitories are a crying need for university students, who are faced with continual increases in prices of board and lodging," says Binder, speaking for his committee. "A student with limited means finds it increasingly difficult to stay in college. The average price of board and room for men students is estimated at $50. That no money be solicited for dormitories from students, but that such buildings be erected either by private gifts, legislative appropriations or by money from the university's building fund was the recommendation of the alumni committee."

Alfred Binder in his investigations will be the following committee: B. C. Crum, H. C. Gross, O. B. Hermle, G. P. Kelsey, Percival Overfield, Helen Coleman, Josephine Hankla and Margaret Tinning.

City Planning Course Arranged at U. C.

BERKELEY, Nov. 26.—With Dr. Carol Aronovitch, Berkeley city planning expert, in charge the university extension division will inaugurate a course in city planning proposed to meet the needs and problems of the Eastbay cities.

The course is not planned for the general public, but rather for the purpose of getting leaders of the Eastbay cities together to formulate some kind of a program of education along the lines of city planning for Eastbay communities. Officials of civic organizations, municipal officers and others are already enrolled in the course.

MISS MARGARET TINNING, member of college committee which will ascertain under what conditions students who attend college are forced to live.

SEA EAGLE'S CREW MAY BE ON SCHOONER

Coast Navigators Believe Men Taken Off Tug by Ecola, Which Is Cruising Before Storm for Run to Harbor

Oakland maritime circles today expressed a growing belief that the nine members of the crew of the tug Sea Eagle, thought to have been wrecked off the Oregon coast early last week, are alive and aboard the schooner Ecola, last seen in tow of the Sea Eagle off Coos Bay.

It is pointed out that in all probability the Ecola is under sail and cruising off the Oregon coast waiting for a moderation in the weather so that a quick run can be made into Puget Sound. The gale raging off the Pacific northwest last night was reported to have reached a velocity of ninety miles an hour. The fact that the prevailing winds are from the south, and southeast, it is said by observers, would aid the Ecola in beating into Puget harbor.

NO LIFEBOAT WRECKED.

The belief of local mariners is shared by Captain O. S. Wicklund, of the Port Adams life saving station. According to news dispatches received here today coast patrol boats have failed to find a single stick of life boat wreckage in all of the wreckage cast up from the Sea Eagle.

The power schooner Martha which was in distress off Eureka, was towed safely into that port last night by the tug Ranger. She was disabled with engine troubles and was at anchor off Eureka since Sunday last. The days ago she broke adrift and when the tug was able to pass over the bar she was picked up and towed into port. The storm is not yet over, and ship owners are expecting news at any moment from craft en route to and from coastwise ports. Many of the vessels will be more or less damaged. The Dollar steamship arrived at the Orient from Vancouver yesterday and reports the roughest passage ever experienced on this voyage, but doesn't mention any damage. All northern vessels arriving here are several hours late.

May Be Safe CAPTAIN GEORGE GOVE, skipper of the tug Sea Eagle, lost off the Oregon coast early last week. A belief is growing that Captain Gove and his crew of eight men have been picked up by the schooner Ecola and will be brought to port.

LAND VALUATIONS ON 17TH STREET DIFFER WIDELY

All sorts of valuations were placed during the week on property at Seventeenth street and Franklin, which is being condemned by the city, and city officials assert that "the end is not yet."

Superior Judge J. J. Trabucco, whose decision must fix the final rate for the properties to be acquired by the city for the cutting of Seventeenth street from Telegraph avenue to Harrison street, has received from experts and realty men a large amount of estimates, summarized by City Attorney Leon Gray today as "conflicting."

There is a lot owned by C. D. Bates and R. E. Ayer on the east side of Franklin. The lot is 74 by 80 feet, with two old residences on it. The city seeks to acquire 47.37 feet of its frontage.

Willard White testified that it is worth $52,675, plus $6332 damage to the portion not taken. Paul Dinsmore, banker, estimated the price of the land at $52,670.

R. W. Kirtle estimated the land at $38,256, with nothing for the buildings.

F. F. Porter appraised the land at $38,256, severance damage at $4572, the residences at $750 and the building damage at $500.

Daniel LaPortune estimated $35,603 for the land, $4374 for severance, $250 for the building and $125 for building damage.

Similar valuations were given by witnesses and experts concerning the T. A. Wright property at Franklin street, 50x150 feet of which the city desires a 12x12-foot frontage.

CASE IS WATCHED.

C. S. McMullen and Willard White appraised the land at $12,130, but D. E. Lane gave $7278 for the land, $7574 for severance and $1000 for the building.

Mullen placed the value of the house at $2730.

F. F. Porter estimated $3764 for the land, $3313 for severance and $700 for the residence.

LaPortune quoted $3100 for the land and $4737 for severance.

McMullen said that the land at the exact end of Seventeenth street, the exact end of the Franklin street frontage is $1000. White, Dinsmore and Lane said it was all worth $1000.

"The cases are getting deeper and deeper," says City Attorney Leon Gray. "Anyhow, the condemnation suits are bringing out the valuations of Central Oakland property better than anything has ever done before. The subject is being thoroughly threshed out. Every real estate man is watching this case with unusual interest."

DONATIONS SOUGHT TO HELP NEEDY

Practical Gifts of Clothing and Shoes Asked for by Berkeley Christmas Committee for the Annual Tree

BERKELEY, Nov. 26.—Monday, December 26, has been set as the date for Berkeley's municipal Christmas festival. Plans for the annual Yuletide fête were made last evening at a meeting of the municipal Christmas tree committee, held in the office of Mayor Louis Bartlett, with J. S. Mills, chairman of the committee, presiding.

As December 26 is a legal holiday it was decided to hold the festival on that date. Many novel features will be introduced in the celebration, according to tentative plans made last night. Reports were received last evening from various committees, while a new school craft committee was organized with Miss Bertha Prentiss, head of the domestic science department at Berkeley high school, as chairman.

Miss Prentiss' committee will act as chief assistants to Santa Claus in making useful articles in the domestic science and manual training departments in various city schools. Already 150 children's garments have been cut out ready for the needles of youthful seamstresses. On account of the unemployment problem, it was declared by the Christmas tree committee that the need for practical giving is greater this year than ever before and gifts of useful garments will be stressed during the holiday season.

Donations to aid in the work of making the Yuletide season one of happiness for all residents of Berkeley are sought by the committee. Santa Claus has been given a special postoffice for the holiday season. His address is P. O. Box 150, Berkeley.

S. F. Police Wear Evening Clothes in Raid on Club

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 26.—Attired in evening dress, opera hat and cape, and accompanied by seven policemen in full dress uniforms with white gloves, Police Captain Charles Goff led a raid last night on a supposed gambling club.

The raid was a full dress affair, Captain Goff explained today, because the manager of the club complained on Goff's last visit that he was not dressed well enough to mingle with the club members.

Sixty men were arrested. They were taken to jail in a common patrol wagon.

PERMIT LACK IS CHARGED TO PHYSICIAN

Action Against Doctor Latest Step in Opposition to Establishment of Sanitarium in Alameda

ALAMEDA, Nov. 26.—Dr. Alfred Bach, 1437 Morton street, was arrested last night by Detective Bert Conant upon complaint of H. G. Henderson of the state medical board for practicing without a permit. Dr. Bach's bail was set at $500 and he was released by Police Judge L. E. Weinmann to appear in court Monday morning.

The arrest of Bach is the third young in the line of opposition against his establishment of a sanitarium in Morton street and which has been bitterly fought by the residents of the neighborhood. When the application for the sanitarium was first made a month ago the city council, because of the opposition aroused, failed to agree and held the award over until the meeting last Tuesday.

BRIBERY HINT IN SABOTAGE CASES WILL BE SIFTED

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 26.—The federal grand jury will be asked to immediately investigate alleged efforts to bribe one of the defendants in the sabotage cases growing out of the disabling of the steamer Creole State during the shipping strike of the early summer.

Joaquin Barraschino and Joseph Wing, others on the vessel, who pleaded guilty on Thursday, were before Federal Judge Dooling today. They were represented by R. P. Tyler and A. J. Hennessey. Tyler complained to the court that efforts had been made to influence Barraschino. "I would like the court to inquire further into this proceeding," he said. "I am satisfied there is something strange about it all. My client has been visited and bothered by numerous interviewers, one of whom offered $1000 if he and Wing would change their testimonies so that somebody else would get off."

Judge Dooling ordered that the grand jury be requested to investigate and directed that the pleas of guilty be withdrawn and not guilty substituted, and the men brought to trial December 9. Tyler declared further that he had not known that his client would plead guilty.

Judge Dooling overruled the demurrer in the case of William Dumortier, the assistant chief engineer, who is also one of the defendants, and he will be tried the same day.

DRIVER ACCUSED OF SPEEDING LAYS IT ON DOUBLE

BERKELEY, Nov. 26.—William G. Mahlman, realty dealer of Albany, may have a double but he says he doesn't know it.

L. E. Brackett, 480 1/2 Thirty-sixth street, Oakland, caused Mahlman's arrest this morning on a charge of reckless driving. He declares that Mahlman "zig-zagged" along the Tunnel road on Thanksgiving Day, driving in such a reckless fashion as to smash the tail lights on his machine.

Mahlman denies the accusations against him. He declares that he was not even on the Tunnel road on Thanksgiving Day and says he can bring witnesses to court to prove that he was elsewhere at the time. Brackett accuses him of damaging his machine.

The case was set for Monday when Mahlman was told to produce his witnesses. In the meantime he is out on $50 bail. He resides at 804 Corrito avenue, Albany.

LIVING COSTS ADVANCED.

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—The cost of living rose six one-hundredths of one per cent during October to a level 62.8 per cent higher than in July, 1914, the monthly compilation by the national industrial conference board sets forth. The increase was due almost entirely to a rise in the price of coal, it added.

OAKLAND RECREATION DEPARTMENT PLANS CITY-WIDE BASKETBALL TOURNEY THIS WINTER

EASTBAY BASKETBALL LEAGUE JUST FORMED SOLVES BIG PROBLEM

Bay Cities Athletic Federation Behind Movement to Unite All Court Teams.

By DOUG MONTELL

The Eastbay Basketball League, the first concrete evidence of the active work of the newly-formed Bay Cities Athletic Federation, will be the largest thing of the sort ever attempted in the bay district, according to W. A. Kearns of the Oakland Y. M. C. A., who is directing the organization of the league for the coming basketball season. At a meeting yesterday, at which were present the leading lights of the basketball and amateur sport world, plans were discussed that will tend to put the league into full swing on a huge basketball schedule immediately after the first of the year. Basketball is already beginning to clamor for a place in the limelight, but there will be little or no activity in the sport, with the exception of the Pomona tournament in Southern California during the Christmas holidays, until 1922 rolls around.

The Bay Cities Amateur Federation stands squarely behind the new league which will embrace the strength represented in the TRIMBLE League during past years and which has been the nucleus of the basketball movement in the bay district. The league, that was first organized and sponsored under the auspices of the TRIMBLE, grew to such an extent last season that it was clearly seen that basketball in this section was entirely too big a sport for any organization or group of individuals to undertake to organize a league and run it successfully independent of the other basketball interests, which are so closely allied.

New Eastbay League Fills Big Need.

The time has come when it becomes imperative that the united efforts of the devotees of amateur basketball in the Eastbay get together behind the problem and devise ways and means by which basketball can take its proper place in the field of amateur sports. There have been, in the past, many leagues run independently of each other, but which were not able, due to lack of adequate facilities, to give the many players on the numerous teams the competition that was to be desired. The Federation, however, has taken the initiative to solve the problem and with five wings at the head of it will make the coming court season the greatest ever known in the history of the bay game in this part of California.

Court Season to Open The First of Year.

Although it is a month until the season will open in full blast, there are many matters already being organized by the league, and nineteen have already sent in their applications to the Bay Cities Athletic Federation for places in one of the four divisions of the Eastbay Basketball League. These divisions will be provided for all in the 120, 130, 145 and unlimited divisions, and many of the teams will be composed of players from the city and county teams for the competition but to secure sufficient court facilities to handle the many teams, the Federation has taken the initiative to solve the problem and with five wings at the head of it will make the coming court season the greatest ever known in the history of the bay game in this part of California.

Recreation Dept. Is To Supply the Courts.

The cooperation of Jay R. Nash, head of the Oakland Recreation Department, is assured in securing excellent courts to enable all teams to practice and on which to hold all games during the coming season. Director Nash told the league yesterday that there would be approximately 100 teams in the league, and that the greatest number that will have been secured for the competition under one head in Oakland. The teams will be representatives of the various cities and towns in the bay district, and the league will be the largest ever known in the bay district. The league will be the largest ever known in the bay district. The league will be the largest ever known in the bay district.

Auditorium Will Supply Four Courts.

It appears practically certain that the shortage of courts will be solved by the use of the auditorium and the various high school gymnasiums for the games of the league. Broadway Bill's Weekly Review

By BOB SHAND.

There's been some edifying spectacles on the local ball park besides the ones on Cal Ewing's nose but that exhibition of Ty Cobb's last Thursday morning takes the celluloid frill' pan. Here was Ty, the "Greatest Ball Player of All Time," the manager of the Detroit Tigers and the man who pulled Ernie Allen off the Oaks and gave him to the Seals, pickin' on Honus Witzel, the greatest player of the Oaks and callin' him a lot of names that would have meant fight if they had been in the hands of a man who was as tough as Ty. He was in with Honus' history when he was known as a grasshopper and went right through with his private version of it up to an including the days when he was a "ball" in the little four-rounders and went to the big ones.

Bak Holloy and Bert Tribby will tangle in the main event and the other special bout will be furnished by Henry Boris and Joe Herrera.

ICE PLANT WILL CLOSE TO AVOID
NOISE LITIGATIONUnion Company Officials
Ordered to Stop Vibration Halt Work.

The Union Ice Company's plant at 12th and Broadway streets has been ordered to close by the court today. The court ordered the company to stop its operations because of the noise and vibration it was causing. The court ordered the company to stop its operations because of the noise and vibration it was causing.

The company's officials were ordered to stop their work. The company's officials were ordered to stop their work. The company's officials were ordered to stop their work. The company's officials were ordered to stop their work.

COMPLAINTS MADE.
The letter follows an announcement by Colburn about a week ago that after months of fruitless negotiation he had decided to take some action to eliminate the vibrations and noises which it was alleged, kept the whole neighborhood awake. The decision was made after teams of correspondence had gone between the ice company officials, the neighboring residents and the commissioner.

After a hearing more than a month ago engineering experts said that the noise could be stopped by some changes in the ice plant's machinery. Neighbors, however, asserted that there was no real improvement and that the Colburns' office with complaints that the vibration from the ice plant was so bad that even electric light globes could not survive in nearby homes.

COLBURN'S PURPOSE

In response to Fitzgerald's letter that the company will not "go into litigation to conduct a legitimate business," Colburn asserted that it was not his intention to suppress any legitimate business, but merely the noise.

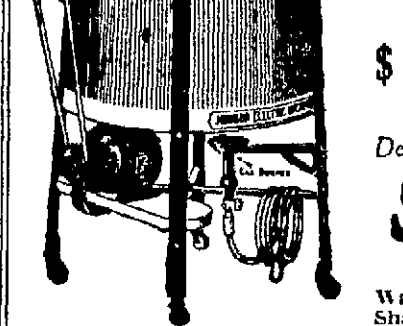

I have favored and always will favor, legitimate business, says Colburn. For weeks I was careful about this plant not wanting to take summary action. I did not move until the whole neighborhood was in arms, and I am sorry that the plant has shut down, but the protests have been so universal that they showed that the residents were suffering keenly from the noises and vibrations.

ALIMONY DENIED
WIFE WHO SAID
"NO" TO LOVE

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 26.—While "No" is a short word but it proved difficult for Mrs. Laure F. Miller, 2424 Ellisworth street, Berkeley, who appeared yesterday in Superior Judge Van Ness' court to ask temporary alimony from Lionel E. Miller, pending her divorce suit, stated that she could not achieve the one syllable negative when Miller asked her to marry him. She said that she did not love Miller at the time she consented to marry him, but that he wielded such a strong hypnotic influence over her that she could not refuse. The judge refused to grant alimony on the ground that a wife who admitted that she had never loved her husband should not be given alimony.

DODGER TO COURTFormer U. of C. Instructor Is Ordered to Pay or Go to Jail for Contempt.

After narrowly escaping a jail sentence for contempt of court, Charles I. Bender, former University of California instructor and inventor, agreed to pay $100 in alimony to his wife, Mrs. Lillian Bender, in an address before Oakland County Jail on a charge of failing to pay back alimony. He was ordered to pay the alimony or go to jail for contempt.

After being brought into court to show why he should not be punished for failure to pay back alimony, he was ordered to go to the bank and show Mrs. Bender's counsel his bank account and return to court. When his case was called he did not return. Shortly after he telephoned he could not come as he was ill with a fever. Judge Harris ordered him to come at once on penalty of arrest. Soon afterward he appeared. The court directed him to pay $100 in alimony to his wife.

Bender was sent to San Quentin several years ago by Judge Harris after conviction on a charge of stealing. He also served a year in the Alameda county jail on a charge of having counterfeit bills in his possession.

More money is being spent on the adult for amusement than for the child in school, declared President Harry Boyle of the Board of Education in an address before Oakland County Jail on a charge of failing to pay back alimony. He was ordered to pay the alimony or go to jail for contempt.

After being brought into court to show why he should not be punished for failure to pay back alimony, he was ordered to go to the bank and show Mrs. Bender's counsel his bank account and return to court. When his case was called he did not return. Shortly after he telephoned he could not come as he was ill with a fever. Judge Harris ordered him to come at once on penalty of arrest. SAVING EFFECTED

The employment of an efficiency expert at a salary of $300 a month by the board has effected a saving of approximately $10,000 in night schools attendance department, supervisors and consolidation of offices with an additional $10,000 in cancellation of requisitions. Mrs. Omsby declared.

That the board of education had undertaken to keep open the schools of Oakland the full 200 days this year was asserted by the woman member. She urged women to active participation in politics.

Women have suffrage but not equal suffrage. They draw aside their mantle and say they must not be contaminated with politics. It is time we got the ballot to the Bible, citizenship to Christianity, politics to patriotism, Mrs. Omsby concluded.

AVERAGE GROWTH

That Oakland's high school growth a year averaged 900 students or what was equal to one additional high school, and that the elementary school increase was even larger, was asserted by Superintendent of Schools Fred M. Hunter who reviewed the present situation by offering the following facts: To meet the housing problem 239 portable buildings are now in use. Under the new building program at the beginning of the next semester 18 additional and three elementary schools giving 80 classrooms and eight auditoriums will be in use.

Plans are ready for bids when funds are available for a junior high school, a junior high school addition, an auditorium and gymnasium and three additional classrooms at Garfield, totaling 32 classrooms. Within the next three months plans will be perfected for bids on a junior high school and two high schools, totaling 31 classrooms. A West Oakland waterfront school was designated by Hunter as the typical American school. He contrasted the budget of eight years ago for 340 students in one of the institutions requiring $28,950, with the present annual budget for 1431 students requiring $106,900.

"It is not for me to determine what the community wants to pay for its schools," declared Hunter. The community, however, must decide what kind of schools it wants and whether it is willing to pay the price."
